Notes:

1. This is NOT an exhaustive list. It is just a list of examples. If there is no statement of authorization and you are unsure if a title carries apparent authority, please double check before rejecting the signature.

2. If the document contains a statement such as "The undersigned is authorized to act on behalf of the applicant" then the signer's title does NOT matter. NOTE: Both AIA/80 and AIA/82 (Revised 07-13) contain authorization to act language.

3. Attorney titles (examples: General counsel, IP counsel, Patent Attorney, Chief Counsel) are not officer titles but can be accepted if included with an officer title (example: General Counsel and Assistant Vice President)

4. If the document neither contains an authorization to act statement nor does the signer have a title that carries apparent authority, the signature can be acceptable if it is accompanied by another document that authorizes the person to sign on behalf of the applicant (example: corporate resolution signed by an officer of the company), then the signature can be accepted.
